Klamath Tribal Youth Council - Call for Action!

You're Invited to an Open Public Hearing January 7, 2019! - We will be there to SAVE our Water & Resources!

Join us and thousands across Oregon as we continue to fight big fossil fuel and the destruction of our climate & clean air!

Chiloquin, OR.- On December 12, 2018, Klamath Tribes Youth Council Representative, Ashia Wilson, met with Elected Tribal Leaders to join forces in taking action against the Jordan Cove/LNG Pipeline.

Ashia said, "As we are all aware this pipeline is trying to force their way here again, after they've been defeated twice before. But now, across the nation, youth leaders are spear-heading greater action to support the continued fight against climate change- We are standing up for our right to a healthy future!" Ashia added, "The Klamath Tribes Youth Council is asking for a "Call to Action" - We are asking our tribal members and friends to attend the upcoming (DSL- Department of State Lands) Open Public Hearing in Klamath Falls, Oregon, to be held on January 7, 2019. This is a public meeting to submit testimony against the proposed Jordan Cove/LNG Pipeline. The Klam-

Youth Council - Call to Action! Hope to see you on January 7, 2019 in Klamath Falls! Left to Right: Treasurer Shayla Ochoa; Chairwoman Hannah Schroeder; Vice-Chairman, Orville Schroeder; Secretary, Laura Schroeder; Member, Preston Lewis; Member, Kateri Kimbol; Member, Natahna Schonchin-Noneo; Member, Riggs Schonchin, and Member, Ashia Wilson. We are standing up for our Right to a Healthy Future!
DON'T BE FOOLED BY THEIR LIES! GET THE FACTS:

*A Canadian corporation wants to put a 230 Mile Pacific Connector pipeline across public and private lands in Southern Oregon and across Tribal Treaty areas, to transport up to 1.2 billion cubic feet of FRACKED gas per year from Canada and the Rockies to Coos Bay, where it would be processed to liquefied natural gas (LNG) and shipped overseas from a giant new terminal. Pembina, a giant Canadian energy company would make massive profits, while the rest of us would pay the price. Our children's future water, land, and air will be destroyed.

*The pipeline route is from Malin, Oregon ---- to Coos Bay, Oregon.

*Threats to traditional tribal territories. Cultural resources, traditional tribal territories, fisheries, and burial grounds are threatened by both the pipeline route and the export facility. The Karuk, Yurok, and Klamath Tribes have openly opposed the fracked gas project.

*Trampling on farmer and landowner rights. If landowners along the pipeline route don’t accept a small, one-time payment for permanent use of their land for the pipeline, the government will grant Pembina the power of eminent domain to force them to anyway. After 13 years, Pembina still has less than 40% of contracts with landowners.

*Huge backward step on climate. According to the U.S. Department of Energy, exporting natural gas from the US to Asia could end up being worse from a greenhouse gas perspective than if China simply built a new power plant and burned its own coal supplies. The terminal would also become one of the largest sources of climate pollution in the state, amounting to up to 15 times the last remaining coal plant in the state of Oregon. Fracking wells that would supply this project have been documented to leak substantial amounts of methane – a powerful greenhouse gas that can make fracked gas projects much worse than coal in a 20-year timeframe.

*Serious safety risk. LNG facilities and natural gas pipelines are highly explosive. The Jordan Cove terminal would be built in a region vulnerable to tsunamis, while the pipeline, full of high-pressure gas, would pass through an area with a high risk of wild fires.

*Higher energy prices. Exporting liquefied natural gas (LNG) “puts pressure on prices and that wouldn't be good for consumers,” according to Avista Senior V.P. Jason Thackston in 2014.

*Threats to existing jobs and businesses. The pipeline will affect farms and fishing businesses as it disturbs more than 485 waterways and damages salmon and steelhead habitat. “Horizontal Directional Drilling” would happen under the Klamath, Rogue, Umpqua, and Coquille Rivers, threatening our rivers with pipeline drilling accidents called “frack outs”. This drilling technique has led to major spills and water contamination in other states across the nation.

*Majors local impacts, few jobs. More than 1,000 temporary residents from outside our communities will descend on the region during the construction phase. Corporate CEOs promise that dozens of jobs will remain after construction, but history has proven that such promises are rarely kept. Their propaganda is full of lies.

*Clean energy development creates far more jobs than fracked gas. Each $$ invested in clean energy creates two to seven times as many jobs as spending that dollar on fossil fuels.

COMMENT TODAY: noIngexports.good.do/DSL

Jordan Cove LNG would impact 485 rivers and streams in Oregon. Tell Oregon Department of State Lands to deny permits and protect our rivers and communities.

KLAMATH TRIBES DROP ENDANGERED SPECIES ACT LAWSUIT

New biological opinion offers fastest way forward to improve fish survival in Upper Klamath Lake

Chiloquin, OR – The Klamath Tribes today announced the dismissal of its lawsuit against the Bureau of Reclamation. The Klamath Tribes maintain that the Bureau has failed–and continues to fail–to meet its obligations under the Endangered Species Act to prevent extinction of C’waam and Koptu (Lost River and Shortnose suckers, respectively).

In light of the Bureau’s recent announcement that a new biological opinion (BiOp) for the fish will be issued in April 2019, however, the Klamath Tribes must devote their efforts to ensure that future Project operations under the forthcoming BiOp will not jeopardize the continued existence of the C’waam and Koptu as operations have done under the 2013 BiOp.

“Time is running out for C’waam and Koptu. The Klamath Tribes believe the new BiOp offers the best and fastest path forward to improve conditions for fish in Upper Klamath Lake,” said Klamath Tribal Chairman Don Gentry. “The current BiOp is based on flawed and outdated science. We remain confident that Klamath Project operations will change for the better for fish if best available science is allowed to lead the way.”

The Tribes point to the forthcoming BiOp as an opportunity to avoid a repeat of the Bureau’s action in early October this year to divert more water from Upper Klamath after all the requirements of the 2018 Operation Plan were met. The lake now sits perilously low and close to the point scientists warn could lead to extinction.

“The new BiOp is an opportunity to address the problems of past operations. Rather than drawing the lake down dangerously low in the fall and betting on a wet winter, the Bureau should take every opportunity to build a buffer for the fish and Basin communities against future scarcity, which is a matter of when, not if,” said Gentry. “Instead the Bureau is setting up communities in the Basin for more conflict over water as the predicted warm, dry winter means the prospects for refilling the lake next Spring are not good.”

Recent monitoring by federal scientists indicate no improvement in survival rates for juvenile C’waam and Koptu. Out of the 170 radio-tagged juvenile hatchery fish released last Spring, just 3 are believed to have survived to date. Most of the fish are offspring of older fish that are nearing the end of their lifespans. C’waam and Koptu populations continue to face a biological bottleneck.

“The Tribes are looking forward to a thorough exchange of information as we begin the reinitiation of consultation on the 2019 BiOp. The Tribes are also encouraged by and deeply appreciate Senator Jeff Merkley’s efforts to bring the best, most recent science and scientists together for the Sucker Recovery Summit that the Senator is convening in Klamath Falls next week,” said Gentry. “We are grateful for all the work that Senator Merkley has done for the Klamath Tribes and all the stakeholders in the Klamath Basin. We are counting on making progress towards improving water quality in the lake and getting started on crafting a 2019 Operation Plan that gives the fish a fighting chance at recovery.”

Once the most important food-fish in the Upper Klamath Lake region, C’waam and Koptu were available by the thousands as a mainstay of the Klamath Tribes’ diet, and were also an important non-tribal recreation fishery. In 1986 the Tribes voluntarily suspended fishing, a treaty right, and harvest just two fish every year for ceremonial purposes.

The collapse of C’waam and Koptu fisheries has marched virtually in lock-step with the declining health of Upper Klamath Lake, the largest body of freshwater west of the Rocky Mountains. Once a major destination for boating, birding, wildlife watching, paddling, and fishing, people now avoid the lake from late Spring into Fall in most years due to severe algae blooms that not only kill fish, but prompt Oregon officials to regularly post health advisories warning against contact with toxins in lake water.

What is the Tribal Water Security Talking Circle? What is it for?

In late 2018, Klamath Tribal Council was contacted by Clarita Lefthand-Begay, PhD Assistant Professor, a Navajo member, at the University of Washington, and Director of the Tribal Water Security Project. What is the Project? Clarita sought approval from the Klamath Tribal Council, to gather information for a National Tribal survey regarding "Water insecurity impacts on the health and culture of American Indians and Alaska Natives in the United States."

Now that approval has been finalized, a working Committee consisting of: Secretary Roberta Frost, Taylor Tupper, Kathleen Hill, Missy Hess, and Treasurer Brandi Hatcher, has put forth the information and agenda you see here on page 5. We hope everyone that has comments and ideas about the importance of water will attend. Subject matter can relate to many different topics such as: Drinking water, water for fish, clean water, water contamination, well water, water tables, culture, health, etc... etc... etc...

We need your water comments for this National Survey. For more information contact: News Dept: Taylor Tupper 541-783-2219 ext. 147  or Secretary, Roberta Frost at: 541-783-2219 ext. 170, or Clarita Lefthand-Begay Telephone: 206-856-7658 Email: Clarita@uw.edu
Congratulations goes to the Klamath Tribes of Oregon for being accepted into the Department of Interior’s Self-Governance Program. The Klamath Tribal Council has approved the execution of a Compact of Self-Governance with the United States of America, through the Secretary of the Interior. The Klamath Tribes is now able to become a Self-Governance Tribe due to the excellent financial audits over the years; eligible Tribes must demonstrate stable and strong financial management capability which is proof of exceptional governance, accountability and procedures. Under Self-Governance, the Klamath Tribes may reprogram funds, derived from the Bureau of Indian Affairs (previously 638 funds), and re-program these funds and manage them in ways that best fit the needs of the Klamath Tribes while still fulfilling the programs, services, functions and activities intended by these funds.

The Tribal Council and General Council approved the Tribes’ Self-Governance application after extensive research, planning and development of the Tribes Strategic Action Plan. The potential re-programming of funds will be based on an informed decision based on the previous year’s program successes, challenges, goals and objectives. The concept is to use the Strategic Action Plan to help programs focus on defined priorities and to use the vehicle of Self-Governance to help the Tribes achieve their objectives and outcomes. No right is more critical to a Nation than to freely determine its priorities and focus available resources on those priorities. Self-Governance is one step towards the building of a stronger Tribal Nation, community and government.

Attention Klamath Tribal Members
Klamath Tribes Strategic Action Plan Available Now

On November 14, 2018 the Klamath Tribes Strategic Action Plan was approved by the Klamath Tribal Council. The final Strategic Action Plan (SAP) was a culmination of extensive work starting in March of 2017 with the Klamath Tribes Core Strategic Planning Team and the expert assistance of the Rural Community Assistance Corporation (RCAC). The goals and objectives identified in the SAP were identified by all-encompassing facilitated outreach to Tribal Members, Tribal Leadership, and program staff. The outreach provided input on priorities, development of priority themes, and goals and objectives for the Klamath Tribes over the next three years.

The outreach included various approaches including Tribal Member meetings in Portland, Eugene, Beatty, Klamath Falls and Chiloquin. We also solicited feedback through electronic outreach via E-blast, Tribal web site and electronic surveys. Finally, we held several focus groups with Tribal leaders and program staff.

The Plan identifies the following primary strategic action themes: Land, Water, and Treaty Resources; Economic Development; Youth and Children; Culture; Education; Health including Tribal Member Holistic Health; Housing; and Governance. The Strategic Action Plan is a framework for action on each theme which identifies corresponding goals, objectives and actions/tasks, with accompanying completion dates, responsible parties and resources. This is a three year action plan that will guide future planning, resource allocation and budget priority setting.

The next step is the strategy implementation, translating the plans into manageable work where individuals are held accountable for fulfilling their responsibilities. RCAC will be assisting us in identifying goal post indicators of successes, barriers, and outputs. The Strategic Action Plan will serve as a blueprint for the future priorities and work of the Klamath Tribes. The Plan is intended to be regularly updated and revisited by the Klamath Tribes.

Klamath Tribal Members can now find a copy of the Klamath Tribes Strategic Action Plan on the Tribal web site in the Password Protected Members Area - go to:

Strategic Action Plan 2018-2021
Mr. Cruz came to the Interior Department after serving on Capitol Hill, most recently as chief of staff to Representative Todd Rokita (R-Indiana) from 2017-2018 and on his legislative staff from 2014-2017. Prior to that office, from 2013-2014, he worked as a legislative fellow in the office of Representative Tom Cole (R-Oklahoma).

On Capitol Hill, Mr. Cruz's legislative work focused on education, labor, civil service reform, appropriations, and oversight. He played a notable role in helping enact the Every Student Succeeds Act of 2015, and twice helped lead House passage of the Tribal Labor Sovereignty Act.

A Teacher for America alum, Mr. Cruz taught at the St. Francis Indian High School, a Bureau of Indian Education tribal grant school, located on the Rosebud Sioux Indian Reservation in South Dakota. While there, he earned the 2011-2012 St. Francis Indian High School Teacher of the Year award. That experience further instilled in Mr. Cruz the belief that all students deserve a high quality education as a means to accessing opportunity and achieving upward mobility.

A 2006 Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation Millennium Scholarship recipient, Mr. Cruz attended Pepperdine University, where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in political science and Brown University, where he received a master of arts degree in urban education policy. While at Pepperdine, Mr. Cruz spent a year studying in London, England; a semester interning at Fox News Channel and Representative Greg Walden’s office (R-Oregon) in Washington D.C.; and a semester studying in Shanghai, China. Outside of work, Mr. Cruz enjoys golfing, reading non-fiction American history, traveling the western United States and outdoor activities with friends.

The Klamath Tribes are proud of this young man and all his many accomplishments through the years. His dedication and commitment has always been unwavering. We have watched him grow and commend his leadership and perseverance.

We support his efforts and pray for his continued health and protection. All the best Mark- We are so proud of you!
Klamath Tribes Economic Development Update

Hotel Grand Opening - Klamath Tribes
We Opened Our 3rd Enterprise!

Working to improve the economic well-being and quality of life for our membership and our community!

On November 1, 2018, the Klamath Tribes held a ribbon cutting ceremony and grand-opening for the new casino hotel - The Sleep Inn. Pictured above are: Tribal Elder, Maryanne Wright, Tribal Chairman Don Gentry, and Economic Development Executive Director, Jared Hall, as they cut the ribbon to the new facility. A formal blessing and prayer was also offered by the Screaming Eagle Drum and Tribal Elder, Charlene Jackson, also pictured here in the photo background. It was a blessed and happy day.

Background: On October 29th, 2016 at a “Special” General Council requested by the Klamath Tribes Economic Development Corporation (KTEDC), the Hotel project was approved by majority vote from the Klamath Tribes General Council. This sparked the long and intensive two year process to initiate and implement the new Sleep Inn Hotel project. After two years of hard work and dedication, the new hotel opened for business on November 1, 2018. The hotel is branded as a Choice Hotel property with 77 rooms, an indoor pool, jacuzzi, and a conference room. The Hotel also offers a convenient workout room, guest laundry, relaxing lobby area, and breakfast space for all guests to enjoy. The benefit of going with Choice Hotel had an immediate estimated cost savings of $500,000 - $600,000 in Soft Costs (Design Planning). This was a critical decision factor considering KTEDC would have had to find un-restricted Tribal funds to begin this project at its most conceptual stage. In addition, the residual value is appreciated through the construction project oversight and operational expertise that is all inclusive to the Choice Hotel Partnership.

And of course, all Tribal Economic Development projects should always recognize the importance of being aware of the Klamath Tribes Environmental values. Choice Hotels incorporates a holistic approach on “Whole Building Design” with an emphasis on Energy & Water Conservation strategies built into the specifications of the entire Hotel property. They have a preferred and select vendor list that sets specifications for high-efficiency standards on interior/exterior building design, operational equipment, and product supplies. This will lead to on-going operational efficiency, short-term/long-term cost savings, environmental obedience (mandated by the Tribes Clean Energy Resolution), and optimal bottom line business performance. We hope you visit our new facility when your are in Klamath County- Home of the Klamath Tribes and Kla-Mo-Ya Casino.

In October, 2018, Tribal Elders came to the Beatty, Irwin Weiser Memorial Community Center, and made boho-chic dreamcatchers! Everyone had fun and was happy with their creations! The Senior Meal-site cooks, Donna Weiser and Jeanine Miller, served 19 Elders (tribal and non-tribal) plus did their normal home deliveries. We had 8 Elders who participated in the craft but 2 didn’t want to be in the picture. It was an enjoyable day we look forward to many more!

For Immediate Release — Sapsik’alá Teacher Education Program at the University of Oregon is Recruiting for the Class of 2020

The Sapsik’alá Teacher Education Program and the UOTeach Program (Master’s in Education: Curriculum and Teaching) are looking for American Indian/Alaska students who have a desire and passion to become an elementary or middle/high school teacher. It is time to apply to join us for the 2019-2020 academic year!

Applications are due January 15, 2019. The Sapsik’alá Teacher Education Program offers full financial assistance to eligible American Indian/Alaska Native students. (Eligible applicants must be tribally enrolled, or have an enrolled parent or grandparent). The program is 12-months long—begin in June 2019 and graduate with a master’s degree and teacher licensure in June 2020—and it is fully funded by a federal grant (tuition, fees, books, supplies, living stipend; total support package is approximately $50,750 per student). The program requires you to live in Eugene, Oregon while you complete the required classes at UO, and Tribal placements for student teaching will be considered and encouraged. Participants complete service payback of their training expenses by teaching in eligible schools that serve American Indian/Alaska Native K-12 students for an amount of time equivalent to their training.

Prospective students need to have completed their undergraduate education, and apply through the admissions process of UOTeach. Our participants earn their Master’s in Education: Curriculum and Teaching degree, as well as teacher licensure.

To apply and review the admission requirements for UOTeach go to:
https://education.uoregon.edu/uo-teach-k-12-teacher-licensure-and-masters-curriculum-and-teaching/admissions

Application deadline is January 15, 2019. To learn more about our Sapsik’alá Program go to:
https://education.uoregon.edu/program/sapsikwala-project

Sapsik’alá Teacher Education Program
College of Education
University of Oregon

Please contact us for guidance through the application process as soon as possible at sapsikwala@uoregon.edu

We are entering our 18th year of training highly qualified American Indian/Alaska Native teachers and we are proud of our 100% graduation rate! Our 84 alumni, all of whom have earned a Master’s degree from the University of Oregon’s College of Education, represent 41 Tribes. The program is guided by Indigenous cultural values and is directed by American Indian faculty and staff, and reports to a Tribal Advisory Council with representatives from the Nine federally recognized Tribes of Oregon. The University of Oregon has a vibrant American Indian community, with student organizations including the Native American Student Union (organizers of the popular UO Mother’s Day Pow Wow); the Many Nations Longhouse on campus, with weekly potluck community dinners; a brand new Academic Residence Hall that has a Native American Studies floor; a Native American Studies Program led by Native American faculty; the Northwest Indian Language Institute, and the opportunity to engage with Tribal Elders and language teachers and learners, including the Ichishkiiin/Sahaptin language class; and a dedicated meeting and study room for Sapsik’alá students and alumni at the College of Education.

Please contact us -- we look forward to hearing from you and supporting your dream of becoming a teacher whose knowledge and skills are much needed in the educational experiences of American Indian/Alaska Native youth!

The Klamath Tribes Culture and Heritage Department hosted the Fall Festival on November 19th and 29th in Chiloquin, Oregon at goos oLgi gowa community center. We taught the kids to make traditional tule skirts, tule ducks, stomp rattles, hand rattles, and various other arts and crafts.

This was a celebration of Native American History Month. This event involved the collaboration of many different Tribal Departments- those involved were: the Klamath Tribes Social Service Department, Education and Employment Department, Youth Initiative, Klamath Tribal Health Education and Klamath Tribal Health Prevention Staff. Klamath Tribal Health donated meat for a traditional meal. The event was well received and we have had a lot of positive feedback. We had roughly 50 participants in this year’s events. For more information on future events, please contact Mandy Roberson at the Klamath Tribes Culture and Heritage Department at (541) 783-2764 x101.
A Poem for the New Year
Thank you Creator for the Gift of Life
Thank you Grandfather-Grandmother for caring for us;
Thank you Mother Earth for growing and nurturing that life;
Thank you Father Sun for the energy to live;
Thank you Spirits of the four winds for the breath of life;
Thank you great circle of the waters for we are mainly water;
Thank you all plants, animals and human beings that make my life possible;
Thank you my ancestors whose shoulders we stand on;
Thank you all my relations.
Amen. By Byron Staton- Klamath Tribal Elder
