The 2020 Census is fast approaching. The Klamath Tribes will soon be bringing you more information (April 1st- July) 2020 regarding this very important process. Tribal governments play a critical role in ensuring a complete and accurate count of our membership. It is more important than ever, especially for Native people living in tribal communities, urban areas, penitentiaries, and outside the service area. Tribal people are historically under-counted, hard-to-count communities that require additional "in-person" engagement to get them to take the Census. We know it is more important that ever that Every Klamath Tribal Member ... Be counted in 2020!
As the 2020 Census progresses and kicks off on April 1st, 2020, other people from tribal health will be added to the Census Committee, while others will be hired to assist members with their Census papers.

Soon all tribal offices, front line employees, tribal events, mailouts, etc... will feature Census Information/booth's etc.

On the right is the current list of the Ad-Hoc Census Committee Members, others will be added soon. Volunteers Needed!
Klamath Tribes Revenue Allocation Plan
Distribution and Investment Board
Request for Proposals for 2020

*Application available at tribal administration and tribal website: www.klamathtribes.org

The Distribution and Investment Board is currently requesting proposals for 2020, per the Approved Revenue Allocation Plan; Klamath Tribal Code Title 7 Chapter 50. Awards to be distributed during 2020 are dependent upon excess revenue generated by the Tribes gaming economic enterprise during the year 2019 as declared in the annual Casino audit.

The Revenue Allocation Plan is adopted pursuant to the authority vested in the Klamath Tribes General Council by its inherent sovereignty as an Indian Tribal government and Article VI of the Constitution of the Klamath Tribes which provides that the General Council has the power to expend and recommend expenditure of Tribal Funds and to exercise all other reserved powers.

The Klamath Tribes General Council established the Klamath Tribes Distribution and Investment Board (KTDIB) for reviewing proposals for supplemental funding under the Klamath Tribes Revenue Allocation Plan and allocating funds in accordance with the requirements of the Plan.

The purpose of this Revenue Allocation Plan is to establish a fair and equitable process for the Klamath Tribes to distribute excess net revenue derived from its gaming operation KLA-MO-YA Casino Corporation, consistent with the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act of 1988.

The Klamath Tribes Distribution and Investment Board is requesting proposals for 2020... To be considered, proposals must be marked “Proposal” and post-marked and delivered before midnight on March 2, 2020, or delivered in person or by ground delivery service during regular business hours March 2, 2020 to the Member Benefits Department, PO Box 436, Chiloquin OR 97624, and Attention: Distribution and Investment Board.

In accordance with KTRAP 50.10c, the Distribution and Investment Board will review the proposals in the month of “May”, 2020. Proposals must also follow the format of the REVENUE ALLOCATION FUNDING REQUEST APPLICATION FORM (call or web), TO BE CONSIDERED FOR GRANT FUNDING.

Application forms and copies of the Revenue Allocation Plan may be obtained outside of the Members Benefit Department in Chiloquin, in the Tribal Administration Auditorium, or Tribal Website.

On the tribal website go to: www.klamathtribes.org

Important Notice! 2020 Klamath Tribal C'waam Documentary.

We are pleased to announce the selection of North 40 Film Productions, an award-winning film production crew, selected to produce our (1st ever) c'waam documentary- Our quest to save our indicator species from extinction.

Who is North 40 Film Productions:

North 40 Productions is a team of award-winning filmmakers based in Wenatchee, WA, who specialize in telling authentic, moving and visually stunning stories that compel audiences to action. Over the last decade, we have produced dozens of human-interest and conservation related documentaries, short-films, educational series, public service announcements and animated explainers. Our work has been broadcasted and treated on on Netflix, NBC Sports, Hulu, Amazon Prime, and iTunes, various social media platforms and at international film festivals, and has reached an audience well into the millions.

Through the years, North 40 has had the privilege to work with a number of Tribes, including the Suquamish, Yakama, Lummi, Upper Skagit, Stillaguamish, Swinomish, Tulalip, Quinault and Coquille Nations. Recently, we produced a series of short-films and explainers for the Northwest Indian Fisheries Commission, including the documentary shorts Saved by Salmon, the story of how a non-tribal sport fisherman and a member of the Suquamish Tribe discovered common ground around salmon; and Not for Any Price, the story of how the Lummi Nation courageously leveraged their Treaty Fishing Right in order to stop what would have been North America's largest coal export terminal, winning a victory for all of us. These films have reached a wide audience throughout the Pacific Northwest and have helped to create understanding, build trust and improve partnerships around shared resources.

Special 'thank you' goes to Tribal Council Member, Willa Powless, staff, and several others who assisted with the review process of our top candidates. North 40 was the RFP review team's unanimous selection. This documentary was made possible thru an IMLS Grant (Institute of Museums and Library Services) that will be facilitated thru the Klamath Tribes Public Information/News department.

The 1st "discovery meeting and filming" will take place in late February/early March (dependant on the fish spawning cycle) - (and again at the c'waam Ceremony - March 28th, 2019.) *Filming will be also happen thru the entire year 2020. *Note: Film dates subject to change (without notice) depending on fish biology/water temperatures. Tribal Aquatics team will set the film schedule.

North 40 Production film examples:
1. Not For Any Price: https://vimeo.com/199386638
The story of how the Lummi Nation made the difficult decision of leveraging their treaty fishing right in order to stop North America's largest coal export terminal from becoming a reality, winning a victory for us all.

2. Saved by Salmon: https://vimeo.com/240105877
The story of a sport fisherman and a member of the Suquamish Tribe, two groups historically at odds over salmon, discover common ground and a shared purpose in saving the fish that helped save them.

3. The Era of Megafires: Trailer: https://vimeo.com/248070355
60-min version: https://vimeo.com/301880290
Join USFS research ecologist Dr. Paul Hessburg and his colleagues as they unpack the science behind today's wildfire problem and show us how together we can prepare our homes and communities for the coming fires, reduce fuels in our landscapes and help our forests become fire-resilient again.

As the Documentary Project Manager, I will be facilitating this process along with contracted Communications Consultant- Mark Glyde, out of Seattle, WA.

I am excited for this unique opportunity within this program, as my late father, Rayson Tupper, was one of the 'fish handlers' selected by our Elder's many years ago. We hope to promote and truly effect social and ecological change for this species and the Klamath basin, while fostering awareness and better relations in our homelands. It is our goal this media piece will help tell our story (thru the fish and our people) to further our mission of Treaty Resource Protection, but more importantly - ecosystem restoration- for all future generations.

We hope to see everyone March 28th, at the c'waam ceremony- The North 40 film crew will be on-site filming.

Sep'ket'cha- Thank you.

Klamath Tribal Courts Update

New for Child Support Enforcement - Klamath Tribes Child Support received a grant that will facilitate the opportunity to apply for the Federal Parent Locating Services through the Office of Child Support Enforcement, an Office of the Administration for Children and Families, Health & Human Services. This secure system helps child support agencies to locate parents to establish paternity and collect support.

Not new - Klamath Tribes Child Support Enforcement - we can assist you with the establishment of a child support order, modifying existing orders, DNA relating to Child Support and collection of child support.

Klamath Tribal Court - Tribal Court received two new grants this year. These grants will assist in court development and expansion of services:

Klamath Tribal Victims Services Program - is to promote justice and healing for Klamath Tribal victims of crime. Our goals are to assist victims of crime with direct assistance to overcome adverse effects of victimization, provide outreach and educate tribal members about victimization and assisting them with getting help, identify gaps in services and develop strategies to address them effectively to include the use of community partnerships.

Klamath Tribal Courts Tribal Justice Systems - this grant will provide the ability to respond to the needs of tribal members by expanding the court docket and staff, develop alternative to the traditional court by focusing on healing through implementing Peacemaking Court services, address court security issues by hiring a Bailiff/Security/Public Safety Officer, develop trauma informed/trauma responsive court practices and environment, coordinate services with other tribal programs.

Not new - Klamath Tribes Juvenile Healing to Wellness Court - this grant provides enhanced services to Juvenile clients involved in tribal court. JH2W provides services that are based on a teamwork and networking approach providing our tribal youth with services and support that they need. Support includes weekly check-ins, regular review of grades and services needed to assist with academics, identifying cultural/tribal events for our youth, we emphasize culturally appropriate restorative justice practices.

Klamath Tribes Child Support Program Information

Did you know:

If you are unable to make a cash payment for child support and the custodial parent agrees, you can provide non-cash items such as wood, etc., if you contact our office and request this option. Call today to learn more.

Klamath Tribes Child Support Enforcement Ordinance Section 29.04 (cc) “Non-cash” support means support provided to a family in the nature of goods and/or services, rather than in cash, but which nonetheless, has a certain and specific dollar value.”

If you are a non-paying parent and receive General Assistance, the current child support amount may be suspended while you are on GA (amounts owed before and after receiving GA are still owed), contact our office to discuss this.

Klamath Tribes Child Support Enforcement Ordinance Section 29.41 (a) “A parent who is eligible for and is receiving cash payments under…a tribal or state general assistance program…shall be rebuttably presumed unable to pay child support and a child support obligation does not accrue…”

If you are a nonpaying parent and are incarcerated, the current child support amount may be suspended during long term incarceration, if you contact our office and request this.

Klamath Tribal Courts and Child Support Program supports families and children by donating items to local events, most recently to the:

New Year’s Eve Round Dance
Christmas donations to tribal families in December
Holiday Bowl hosted by the Education department in December
Elder’s December Holiday Dinner hosted by the Community Services department
Youth Summit held at OIT and hosted by Will Hess, Klamath Tribes Lead Youth Initiative Coordinator

Klamath Tribal Courts and Child Support Program are optimistic about having a positive impact in our community and supporting tribal families in 2020 and beyond by:

Offering assistance with completing forms for tribal and State child support cases.
Attending tribal community events to provide information and outreach items.
Donating items and partnering with tribal programs and local agencies.

It is our goal to improve all aspects of this program, improve the services we can provide, and to be available to the community.
The Klamath Tribes received a three-year Administration for Native Americans (ANA) grant. The Early Childhood Development Center (ECDC) is advertising and recruiting staff as well as students for this Pre-K Class (3-5 years old).

The project is named nalam kickani tataskni hemcanga, “Our Little Children Talk” and will focus on emphasizing and expanding efforts to teach tribal language and culture in an early childhood program for children (and families) attending the Center in Chiloquin, Oregon.

In December 2019, Klamath Tribal Council Member, Jeannie McNair, visited tribal inmates at both the Powder River Correctional Facility and Eastern Oregon facility. Powder River Corrections is a minimum security prison located in Baker City Oregon. Eastern Oregon Correctional Institute is a medium security prison located in Pendleton, Oregon.

Jeannie says, "My visits across Oregon, to see our Tribal Members, has been really nice, everyone has been excited and there are lots of questions, especially about home, family, and transitional options like jobs/housing after release." She adds, "It also amazed me, that out of the 9 federally recognized Tribes in Oregon, the Klamath seems to be, one of the only Tribal Government's, visiting the prisons and speaking with our membership. It is important for them to know they are not forgotten. It's hard to see the amount of inmates the Klamath Tribes' has in these facilities, and even though services are extremely limited, I'm working directly with our behavioral health department and other avenues, to see what steps can be taken in the future. I personally encourage those who have family in the prison system to reach out to them, even if it's a simple letter, funding, or monthly phone call - Recognizing them as more than inmates is good for their spirit and helps in healing... It means more than you know."

Children & family Services Program

The Children & Family services program serves families whose children are either enrolled or eligible for enrollment within the Klamath Tribes. The program serves eligible families nationwide.

The primary mission of the program is child protective services. The major stress indicators for families where children are removed from their home include suspected drug and/or alcohol abuse, involvement with law enforcement and domestic violence. The program provides case management services to Tribal members/Native American children and families at risk of family violence and or/child abuse and neglect. The program also provides case management and advocacy services for Klamath Tribal children who are victims of abuse and neglect and are in state custody.

The goal of the Children & Family Services program is to promote healthy and safe lifestyles for Klamath Tribal children. The program also provides court advocacy for tribal children and their families to ensure that the Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA) is complied with by the state. The program also works to recruit Native foster and relative foster home placements. Tribal children who must be temporarily removed from their home to be protected from abuse and neglect, while their caregivers address concerns of abuse and neglect within the home, need Native families to help care for them until it is safe for them to return home. Tribal children need Native Families and culture in order to maintain their identity. The children & Family Services program also provides case management services on identified cases in Klamath Tribal Court.

Candi Uses Arrow, Program Manager, (541)783-2219 ext. 152

Lona Phipps, Case Worker (541)783-2219 ext. 141

Temporary Assistance To Needy Families (TANF)

The TANF program is entering into its 23rd year with a startup date of July 1, 1997 and at the same 1997 funding level. The program has been very successful helping families obtain self-sufficiency either be employment or acquiring SSI by providing a monthly grant award.

The program has managed to provide support services for families school clothing needs and fees, as well as their Christmas Holiday needs. The program also provides a turkey/ham certificate for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Some of the main support services are childcare for working families; work clothes, transportation needs, car insurance, car repair, license reinstatements, housing needs, as well as a variety of other services. The main support is a monthly grant award. Applications are available in the Social Services Department and intakes are conducted on Monday and Thursdays from 8:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.

Faye Brattain, Program Manager (541)783-2219 ext. 131

Healing Winds Domestic Violence & Sexual Violence Prevention Program

The program is designed to educate and help reduce domestic & sexual violence and the problems associated with abuse in the tribal community. The program serves the needs of victims suffering from the effects of violence in family or intimate partner relationships, sexual assault, dating violence, stalking, elder abuse and human trafficking.

The abusive relationship between family members, caregivers, intimate partners include: any physical, verbal, sexual, emotional, economic or psychological action or threat of action in a relationship which purposefully intimidates, frightens, terrorizes, manipulates, hurts, humiliates, blames, injures or wounds another person. Healing Winds serves the Klamath Tribes’ tribal members and other Native Americans living in Klamath County. Healing Winds program staff provide advocacy for crisis intervention, safety plans and protection orders, assessments and referrals, transportations, facilitate culturally therapeutic trauma healing support and gathering group Along with other trauma informed support groups for native women.

Location: TBA - in Chiloquin, Oregon

By: Klamath Tribes Youth Council Co-Chair, Hannah Schroeder

For: Her High School Sr. Project, in collaboration with Klamath Tribal Artist & Sr. Project Mentor, Ka'ila Farrell-Smith.

Art for the Auction will come from both Hannah and Ka'ila, and other's who would like to donate. Donations being accepted now.

The Art Auction is meant to do two things:
1. Bring awareness to the MMIW (Murdered, Missing, Indigenous Women) across the Nation.
2. Help her little cousin, Coley Miller, who recently had a kidney transplant and is in full recovery.

All proceeds from the art auction will be donated to Coley.

Hannah says, "This project is very close to my heart and is related to what I want to do with my future in medicine. My older sister had this same chronic kidney disease and a transplant when she was little, I know as a family member, the struggle of everything involved with Coley's healing. It is my way to bring awareness and help where I can. Plus, I love her, this little girl is amazing. Her medicine is strong. She will do great things in the future.
