

Klamath Indian Game Commission

The Klamath Indian Game Commission (KIGC) was established in 1975 by The Klamath Tribes. They operate under the authority of the Treaty of 1864 of The Klamath Tribes. The purpose of the KIGC is to maintain an optimum level of wildlife and to set and enforce regulations to exercise treaty hunting, fishing and trapping rights by Klamath Tribal members. The sovereign right shall not be infringed upon. Klamath Treaty hunting, fishing, trapping and gathering rights are in effect ONLY WITHIN THE 1954 BOUNDARY and will be exercised by customary manner of taking. Boundary maps are available at The Klamath Tribes Fish and Wildlife office.

Eligibility: Treaty hunting, fishing, trapping and gathering rights may be exercised only by enrolled members or enrolled tribal decedents of The Klamath Tribes. If you are uncertain of your enrollment status or eligibility for enrollment, check with The Klamath Tribes Enrollment office. (541) 783-2219 or (800) 524-9787.

Identification Cards Required: Tribal members over 12 years old exercising treaty hunting, fishing or trapping rights must have a Klamath Tribal Identification card. Cards are available at the Enrollment office.

Closed Seasons: All hunting, fishing, and trapping seasons are open except as specified in this Synopsis or otherwise closed by the KIGC. Agency Lake big game winter closure area will be from December 1st thru April 1st.

Tags Required: Tags are available at the Outlet locations listed on the back of this synopsis.

Trap Registration: All traps must be marked with a brand and registered with the Natural Resource Department.