Films and Language

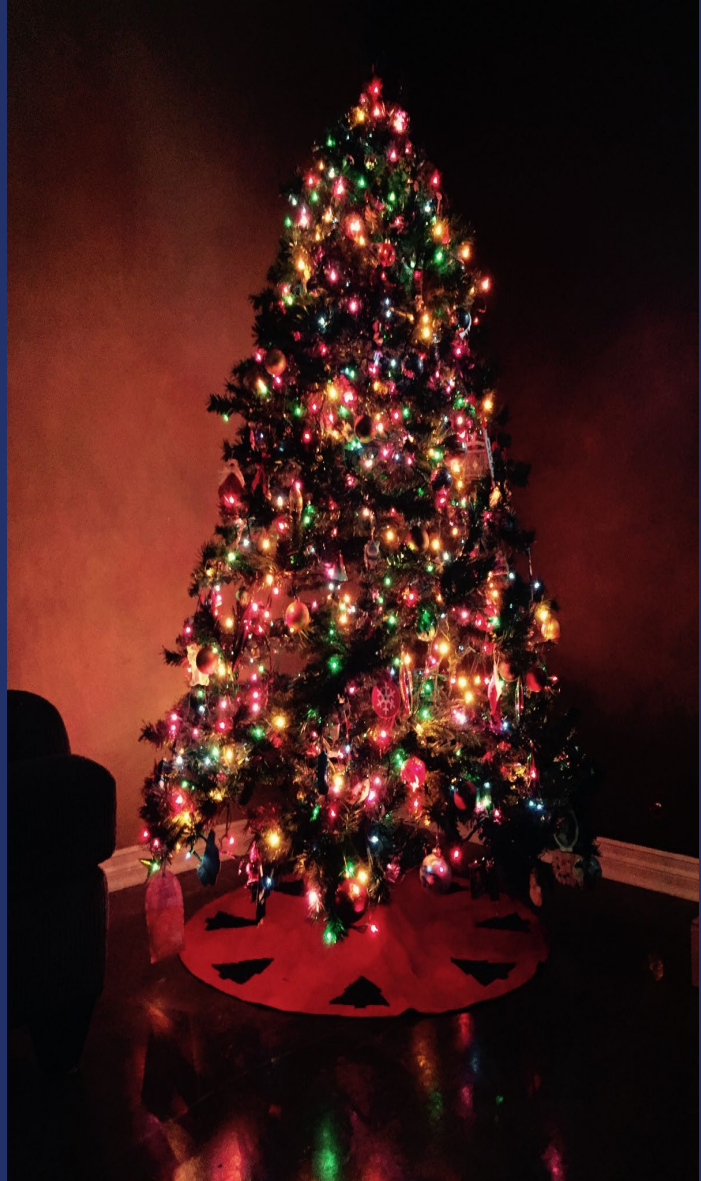

Given Name: Tallon Jackson

Cultural Name: ke-ash neasht sheshatko

Thus, named Red Tailed Hawk Is an enrolled member of the Klamath Tribes , born on the Warm Springs Reservation in Central Oregon.

Tallon is a filmmaker, using films as a creative outlet and finds it fills a spiritual need. Tallon's film making work focuses on unrepresented voices. He has trained at Open Signal Community Media Arts Center in Portland and partners with Regional Arts and Culture Council and Oregon Humanities.

Tallon shares his opinion, "I believe everyone in Oregon should know some of the Klamath and Modoc languages. We have a great resource with the language department of the Klamath Tribes. It's accessible for beginners to advanced speakers and a place to practice your culture in a fun and engaging environment with other tribal members. It's helped me with my recovery by bringing meaning and focus on our old ways. It enriched my life. I'm excited to share what I've learned through film and promote our culture. seep'keec'a The Klamath Tribes Language Department."
